Mixed Emotions

Beatlemania in Poznan

As we move into day three of the European Open Bridge Championships, the players will be experiencing mixed emotions; those who are still alive in the teams event will be trying to secure a berth in the quarter final, while those who fell at the previous hurdle must regroup as they start out on the long road that might lead to qualification for the Mixed Pairs Final.

Of Mice and Men

by Jan van Cleeff

Cruising in the closed room your reporter kibitzed a while with Anna Malinowski, a Polish bridge star living nowadays in Norway. Anna is playing with Rune Hauge. Both were members of the Hauge team that won the mixed teams gold medal in San Remo, 2009.

Round robin 4, mixed teams championships

In her match against powerful Gewanna from Poland Anna saw herself for four boards in a row confronted with tough decisions.

Quiz

I. On board 7 sitting East Anna had:

▲Q J 10 7 2 ♡ A Q J 6 ◊ — ♣ A 8 7 3

S/All

West	North	East	South
			Pass
Pass	3♢	dbl	Pass
4♠	Pass	?

Pass or shoot?

2. Board 8 produced another decision for her:

♦ ♡KQJ643 ◇AK73 ♣Q 105

W/-

West	North	East	South
Pass	♠	2♡	2♠
Pass	4♠	?

Pass, dbl or 4NT?

3. Then came mysterious board 9:

▲ 5 4 ♡ 9 6 ◊ Q J 7 ♣ A K 9 8 4 3

N/EW

West	North	East	South
	\square	2♣	2NT*
4 \diamond	4 ♠	?
* 3+ cards	heart fit, inv+

 Cue bid agreeing hearts

Mice (Pass) or man $(5\diamond)$?

4. Board 10 was the final board of the match and of this quiz. Anna had:

▲ Q 3 ♡ K 7 6 ◊ A Q J I 0 ♣ K Q J 5

E/All
West	North	East	South
		♣	2♡*
Pass	Pass	?

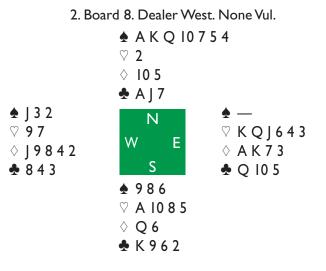

Pass, dbl or 2NT?

Solutions

I. Board 7. Dealer South. All Vul.

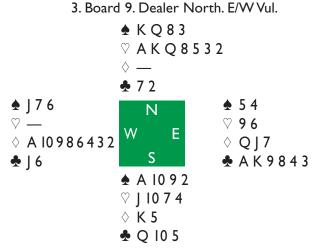

At the critical moment Anna decided to pass. Maybe a 5 \diamond cue might lead to 6 \pm . Still, the slam depends on clubs to break (which they did).

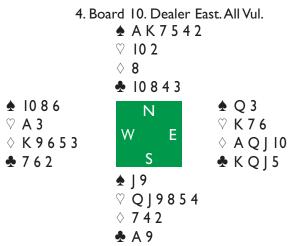

Anna passed again, though 4NT (showing a 6-4) might have led to $5\diamond$ which goes down for three hundred (due to a heart ruff). However, if North would have pressed to $5\clubsuit$, there still was something to play for. Eleven tricks are on the table as East will be squeezed in hearts and clubs.

Anna Malinowski by Elizabeth van Ettinger

Red against green Anna passed and NS signed off in 5 $^{\circ}$ duly made after the club lead. However if Anna would have bid 5 $^{\circ}$ instead and NS would bid 5 $^{\circ}$.What would have happened? West might give it another shot with 6 $^{\circ}$ and the pressure is on North when his side elects to defend (and double) the diamond slam. He definitely should lead a spade to defeat the slam or elsewhere thirteen tricks are on the table for EW.

Much to my surprise Anna passed again and defended 2^{\heartsuit} down one. I admit I would have bid 2NT with her hand and probably would end up in 3NT doubled by North for a spade lead. Indeed that lead (ducked by North at trick one) would be killing.

A Simple Safety Play

by Jan van Cleeff

When team Mano from Poland met Blue Rose from Bulgaria in the first round of the mixed teams championships it was merely a one-way traffic. The Poles won by 81 to 0. On this deal Iman Chammaa showed why she selected the great Krzysztof Martens as her partner:

Bc	oard 10. Dea	4 3 0	Ι.
 ▲ J 8 2 ♡ K Q ◇ A J 5 4 ◆ 10 7 6 5 	N ₩ $ Q I ♡ J I0 ◊ 9 8 $ A K	0 6 7 6 7 3	52
West	North	East	South
Martens		Chammaa
		♣	Pass
2NT	Pass	3NT(!)	Pass
All Pass

Raising 2NT to game showed great confidence by Mrs. Chammaa in her partner's dummy play.

North kicked off with a fourth best heart. Declarer won the king and played a club. North went up with the queen, which was not so brilliant from his (or indeed anyone's) perspective. South, in with a top club, continued hearts. This gave Krzysztof the tempo to execute a simple safety play in diamonds as the maestro mentioned later: he won the $\heartsuit Q$, cashed the $\Diamond A$ and king and returned to clubs. Curtains.

A spade switch at some point definitely would complicate matters for declarer. Still he could survive by ducking the ace twice. In that case it is imperative for him to play for the drop of the $\Diamond Q$. Not easy.

Mixed Teams Qualifications, Round 4

by Jos Jacobs

In Round 4 of Saturday's qualifications, three boards presented all sorts of problems to many players.

Here is what happened on them in three of the matches. On the first of our three boards, the difficult defence to beat 5 $^{\circ}$ was not found, as you can imagine after seeing the hands. The point is that South can win the A, give his partner a club ruff and still collect the setting trick in clubs later.

Board 2. Dealer East. N/S Vul.

West	North	East	South
Gotard	Brogeland	Eggeling	Brogeland
		Pass
2♠	4♠	5♡	5♠

Eggeling made the right decision when she doubled $5 \pm$, rather than bidding on.

An easy two down, 500 to Pony.

Helness apparently trusted his opponents, as he decided to bid one more over $5 \bigstar$. One down only but still another +100 to Pony, 12 Imps to them.

In the Herbst v. CMN match, 5^{\heartsuit} was the popular contract:

West	North	East	South	West	North	East	South
Lund	Herbst	Mortensen	Barr	Ivanov	Callaghan	Ivanova	Duckworth

When North led a diamond, the losing spade quickly went on the diamonds so declarer ended up with a doubled overtrick: CMN +750.

West	North	East	South
Herbst	Korsholm	Nosatzki	Mortensen
		Pass	♠
2♡	4♠	5♡	All Pass

On a spade lead and a diamond continuation, 11 tricks were easy enough so Herbst registered +50 but lost 12 Imps in the process.

In the Dhondy v. Batov match, we had another big swing:

West	North	East	South
Aronov	Dhondy	Zobu	Dhondy
		Pass	♠
2♠	4♠	5♡	All Pass

A twosuited overcall and a normal enough auction; Batov +450.

		Pass	♠
2♡	4♠	5♡	5♠
6♡	Pass	Pass	Dbl

Just as in the Brogeland v. Pony match, South's $5 \pm$ bid induced a phantom save from West. One off, 11 lmps to Batov.

In our last featured match, Penfold v. DuckNDales, the former team just scored I Imp on an overtrick. Please note that they played in clubs at both tables, their best fit. Playing in a minor might cost an Imp if it makes, but it certainly does not cost if you are going down, it's just 50 per trick for all denominations.

Two boards later, there was more serious stuff as variations in treatments of the weak two/Multi made a world of difference.

In the Dhondy-Batov match, after West's Multi the former had enough bidding space left to find out that 3NT was their proper contract.

When Wojcieszek opened one level higher, NS were in trouble. North launched a nice convention to show his twosuiter, only to find out that they were already beyond their safety level. Down one and 13 Imps to Dhondy. (If the operation is successful and the patient dies does it say something about the convention?).

Herbst v. CN	1N:

A curious problem for South here: what is West's suit? North might have saved the day by passing 4NT but that does not look a sensible action opposite a still unlimited South hand. Down three, 14 Imps to Herbst.

Penfold v. D	uckNDales:
West	North	East	South
S Cope	B Senior	Stockdale	S Penfold

In the other room, East did not open at all so NS got a free road to the proper contract. +660 to them and 13 lmps won.

Finally, the Brogeland v. Pony match:

West	North	East	South
 Gotard	Brogeland	Eggeling	Brogeland

Steliana Ivanova, Bulgaria

This is the auction I like most of the eight shown: short and very sweet. Down three, NS +800 and the best score in their direction.

West	North	East	South
Helness	Gotard	Helness	Gotard

When Gotard could not use a nice convention, he was forced to just make a spade overcall. After that, all his partner could do was convert to 3NT – which happened to be the proper spot. Well done but their +660 still meant a 4-imp loss to Pony's team.

Three boards later, we again saw swings of all sorts.

Lund struck gold when he ventured a little overcall at his second turn. East could hardly do less than raise to slam. North must have been disappointed to find out that only his ace of trumps stood up.

CMN +1660.

At the other table, Herbst ventured a second-round double which, disappointingly for him, did not inspire his partner to bid a slam. Herbst +680 but 14 lmps to CMN.

Dhondy v. Batov:

A remarkable auction, even more so after looking at what happened at the other table.

Not much more action in the Penfold v. DuckNDales match either:

A stumble at the finish line

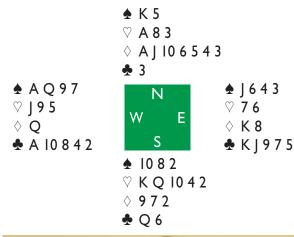

by Brent Manley

After two boards in their match against the French Neve team, Fulvio Fantoni and his teammates in the Mixed Teams were trailing 20-0. With one board to go, they had come all the way back to lead 21-20. Even better, they were poised to win 13 IMPs on the last deal ... but something happened on the way to victory.

Fantoni was playing with his wife, Iolanda Riolo.Their teammates were Claudio Nunes and Mihaela Balint. Opposing them were Jean Francois Allix, Joanna Neve, Jerome Rombaut and Vanessa Reess.

This is how the Fantoni team fell behind.

Fantoni led his singleton diamond, taken by Neve with the ace. She continued with the \Diamond J to Riolo's king. Riolo played a club to South's queen and Fantoni's ace, and he had his last chance to take a spade trick to hold declarer to 170. Instead, he played a trump, and Neve was soon claiming plus 200.

The auction was much more spirited at the other table.

Once Neve cuebid the A, slam was inevitable, and Neve made the play look easy.

She won the low diamond opening lead in dummy, played the $\heartsuit A$ and a heart to the 10, then ruffed a diamond, returned to hand with a club to the ace, and ruffed her last diamond. Now a spade to the ace allowed her to pick up the last trump and claim, conceding a spade at the end for plus 1430.

Nunes' decision to open INT did not work out well, as it was difficult for Balint to envision slam with only 12 highcard points herself. Nunes played the contract the same way that Balint did to arrive at the same 12 tricks, for a loss of 13 IMPs.

The next board was a strange push as both pairs got overboard.

Balint did well to pull the double of 5° – the payoff would have been only 500 – and she was rewarded for her good judgment by being lifted to the no-play slam. The fact that it turned out to be a push was no doubt small consolation.

The comeback for Fantoni started on the next deal.

This contract was ironclad. West led a low diamond, and Reess falsecarded with the king. Balint won the $\Diamond A$ and continued with the $\bigstar A$ and a second spade. When the $\bigstar K$ and $\bigstar Q$ fell together, there were only two more tricks to lose. Plus 590 meant an 11-IMP gain for Fantoni.

Fantoni picked up an overtrick IMP on the next deal, then added 5 IMPs on this one.

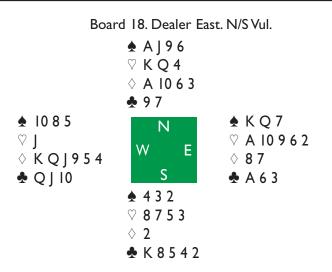

At the vulnerability, the save was just too tempting to pass up, but it did not work out well. Fantoni cashed his $\heartsuit A$, the followed with the $\bigstar K$ and $\bigstar A$ for one down and plus 100.

West	North	East	South
Rombaut	Nunes	Reess	Balint
\bigtriangledown	2♡	3♡	4 \diamond

Nunes cashed his high clubs and gave his partner a ruff. From there, Rombaut could not avoid the loss of a diamond for one down and minus 100. Fantoni had inched 5 IMPs closer. The score was 20-17 for Neve.

Fantoni picked up 2 more IMPs when Balint and Nunes took eight tricks against INT by Reess for plus100 while Neve and Allix managed only seven tricks against the same contract. It was now 20-19 for Neve.

Another INT contract allowed Fantoni to pull ahead, 21-20.

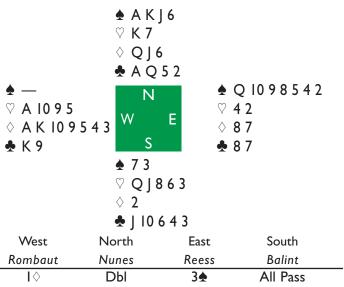

The contract was INT by West at both tables.

Against Rombaut, Nunes started with the $\pounds 6$. Rombaut went up with dummy's king and played a diamond to his king, Nunes ducking. The $\oiint Q$ went to South's king, and another spade was returned to the jack and queen. When declarer played another diamond, Nunes won and cashed two spade tricks and exited with a club. Declarer finished with two spades, two diamonds, two clubs and a heart for plus 90.

At the other table, Allix started with a low diamond, and when dummy's 7 held at trick one, Fantoni was in business. He played a second diamond to his king at trick two. In with the $\Diamond A$, Allix switched to the $\heartsuit K$, which did not paralyze declarer. He won the ace, played a low club from dummy, South ducking, to his queen. He cashed only three more diamonds because he was squeezing dummy. A spade to the king was followed by the $\heartsuit 10$. North was able to get two spade tricks in the end, but Fantoni finished with plus 150 for a 2-IMP gain. At that point, Fantoni and company were leading 21-20. On the penultimate deal, 3NT by West went down a trick at both tables for push. This was the final deal:

Board 20. De	aler West. All Vul.

The bid of $3 \oplus$ with 7-2-2-2 shape would not be everyone's choice. North, after all, was likely to hold spades as part of his takeout double.

Balint led her singleton diamond, taken in dummy with the ace. Declarer cashed the $\heartsuit A$ and played another heart. Nunes won the $\heartsuit K$ and played the \diamondsuit (suit preference), ruffed by Balint, who continued with the 🛃 to the king and ace. Nunes cashed the $\clubsuit Q$ and played his last diamond. Reess ruffed with the \bigstar 8 and erred by playing a low spade from hand. Balint won the $\bigstar7$ and exited with a club. Balint, down to all trumps, ruffed and was forced at trick II to lead from ΔQ 10 9 into Nunes' ΔA K J. That was plus 400 to Fantoni, now looking good for a two-digit gain on the final board considering how the bidding ended.

It was not to be.

West	North	East	South
Fantoni	Allix	Riolo	Neve
I \diamond	Dbl	♠	2♡
3♢	3NT	All Pass

A diamond lead would have allowed Fantoni to clear the suit and wait to get back in – and it probably would not have been long.

If Allix tried to drop a singleton $\clubsuit K$ by cashing the $\clubsuit A$ first, he would have been down four. The net of plus 800 would have earned Fantoni 13 IMPs.

After Fantoni bid his suit at the three level, it seemed certain he would get the killing diamond lead. Instead, Riolo chose the $\triangleq 10$ for her opening shot – and now the contract could not be defeated.

Allix gratefully took the \blacktriangle and put the $\heartsuit K$ on the table. Fantoni had to duck or Allix would have access to dummy for the club finesse and a probable overtrick. After winning the $\heartsuit K$, Allix simply cashed the \clubsuit A and continued with the queen. Fantoni won and cashed the $\Diamond K$, continuing with the $\Diamond I0$. His suit was ready to run, but Allix had his nine tricks: three spades, one heart, one diamond and four clubs. Plus 600 was good for a 5-IMP gain and an unlikely 25-21 victory.

Clear and Present Danger

by Mark Horton

Sometimes when everything in the garden appears rosy a nasty shock may lie in store. England's Heather Dhondy, a member of the winning Mixed team in 2007, reported this classic instance from the second day's play.

West led the two of spades and with East having sounded no warning note declarer played low from dummy. East won with the king and did not make the mistake of returning a spade, which would have seen declarer discard a club, but instead switched to the two of clubs. West won and returned a low club. East won with the ten and now played a spade promoting a trump for her partner.

Thor's Hammer

by Mark Horton

In Norse mythology, Mjölnir is the hammer of Thor, a major god associated with thunder in Norse mythology. Distinctively shaped, Mjölnir is depicted in Norse mythology as one of the most fearsome weapons, capable of leveling mountains.

The Prose Edda gives a summary of Mjölnir's special qualities in that, with Mjölnir, Thor would be able to strike as firmly as he wanted, whatever his aim, and the hammer would never fail, and if he threw it at something, it would never miss and never fly so far from his hand that it would not find its way back, and when he wanted, it would be so small that it could be carried inside his tunic.

In the first round of yesterday's Swiss Brogeland's Norwegian hammers did not always find the mark, but they still stuck more than enough blows to secure a convincing victory.

West led the four of diamonds and East won with the king and switched to the king of clubs, trying to kill the entry to the spades. Declarer won with dummy's ace and played the king of spades. East took the ace and switched to a trump, but declarer won, ruffed a diamond, cashed a spade for a club discard, came to hand with a club and claimed +450.

I would be happy to open the North hand in a limited system (and it is also possible to open $2\heartsuit$ – a limited three suiter with hearts as described in a recent book about the Multi). West led the king of spades and declarer ruffed in dummy and played a club to the jack and king (only a Rabbi would get this one right). The diamond suit provided a discard for the losing heart finesse, +600.

Although North came in on the second round it was not enough to persuade South to get involved. She cashed the ace of clubs and switched to a trump, declarer winning in dummy and playing a heart. South won with the king and when she again failed to find the diamond switch declarer was able to record an overtrick, handing the Norwegians 13 IMPs.

In the Closed Room North/South were able to locate their spade fit and reach game, although declarer did not guess the spade position getting the hearts right was enough for a 7 IMP pick up.

East led the five of hearts and after considerable thought declarer went up with dummy's king, unblocked the queen of clubs and played the king of spades. When that held he came to hand with a heart and tried the clubs. When they failed to divide the game was up, and the defenders made no mistake, cashing all their tricks for +100.

With all four hands on view one can see that taking the first heart in hand and attacking spades will lead to success thanks to the position in diamonds, but there is no particular reason for declarer to follow that path.

The Editor of the new edition of the Official Encyclopaedia of Bridge Brent Manley is here in Poznan. When he returns to Memphis it will be too late for you to update your biography. Here is an example of the type of thing we are looking for (your bridge results we know all about!):

Fritz Babsch (1933-) He was born in Vienna and has lived there ever since. He married lnge in 1959 they have two sons (only one is playing bridge) and three granddaughters. He learned bridge in the cold winter 1946/47 when he found a book on bridge in the library of his grandfather. He then played with the family (and never knew that there was something like Tournament Bridge) and some LOLs until 1963 when he discussed the result of a match with a colleague with whom he played basketball. It transpired that what he thought was a basketball result was a bridge result. He told him that he also played bridge. His colleague was enthusiastic and invited him to the bridge club and that was it for the rest of his life. Many good players found their way to bridge through similar accidents. In the early 70's he started a career as organizer and TD. He was successful at the first seminar of the EBL and has directed not only in Austria but also in Yugoslavia, Hungary, Germany and later in Croatia. He was TD in four EBL championships. In the last ten years he has played little bridge.

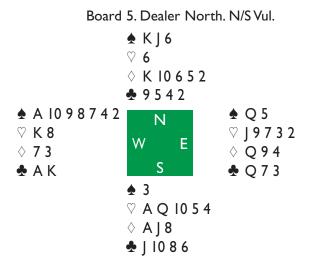

He was a civil engineer by profession but bridge was always number one in his life. His hobbies are travelling, alpine flowers, especially wild growing orchids, and classic music.

Mixed Teams Swiss Round 2

by Jos Jacobs

In Sunday's second round of the Swiss, two boards drew my attention, numbers 5 and 7. Here is what happened on both of them in three of the matches.

This is a hand on which West can bid any number of spades he likes over South's opening I^{\heartsuit} bid. The risk is of course that the higher you bid, the greater the chance of being caught for speeding.

Mr lvanov was our first victim in this respect as this was the bidding at his table:

West	North	East	South
Ivanov	Brogeland B	Ivanova	Brogeland
	Pass	Pass	\heartsuit
Dbl	Pass	INT	Pass
4♠	Dbl	All Pass

The play was easy enough. Heart lead, heart ruff, diamond to the Jack, $\Diamond A$ and another heart. Declarer ruffs with the ace and loses a trump trick later for down two. NS +300.

West	North	East	South
Helness T	Senior	Helness	Penfold
	Pass	Pass	\heartsuit
♠	INT	Pass	2♣
2♠	3 🛧	3♠	All Pass

This contract was apparently brought home on less than stellar defence: a heart lead and heart ruff, but then repeated club exits from North... so +140 and 10 Imps to the Brogeland team

When the Wild Griffins faced the Adams Family, both EW pairs reached game but along completely different routes from what we saw earlier.

Kostadinov, for the Adams family, found himself quickly in 4⁴ and got the same defence as was found by the Brogelands. Down two.

At the other table, we saw interesting variations in bidding and play.

West	North	East	South
Khven	Ignatov	Gulevich	Mineva
	Pass	Pass	\heartsuit
♠	2 ◇	Pass	2♡
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl	All Pass

Here, North led the \heartsuit 6 and South did not put up her ace! Declarer won the eight and immediately led a low trump, North rising with the King. When a club came back, a red loser disappeared and nine tricks were thus made for a 5-Imp gain to the Wild Griffins.

In our last featured match, Gotard jr. immediately took the bull by the horns:

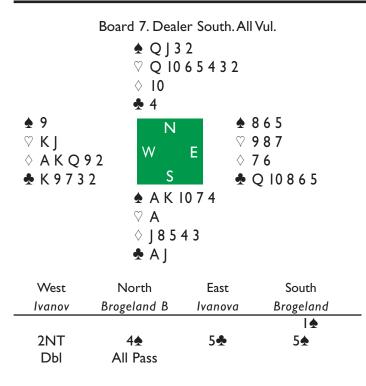

West	North	East	South
Gotard	Taczewski	Eggeling	Taczewska
	Pass	Pass	\circ
4♠	Dbl	All Pass

...only to find out that this had not been the right moment to do so. Heart to the ace, heart ruff and a club back but when declarer next played the A, dummy was out of reach forever so down two was inevitable. Couples +300.

West	North	East	South
P Busse	T Gotard	G Busse	B Gotard
	Pass	Pass	$ \heartsuit$	_
	All Pass

Busse was left alone in his modest overcall and got a very sharp defence indeed: Heart lead to the ace, heart ruff, diamond to the Jack and the $\heartsuit Q$. Having no relevant information at all from the auction, declarer ruffed with the eight but North overruffed and played another diamond. South now could win his ace and lead yet another heart to promote North's trump king. Well defended but to no avail: Couples +80 and 9 Imps to them.

The other board to be discussed is an interesting declarer play problem, even more so when the opponents have competed a bit.

Now, how would you play this contract, in view of the auction in which West had showed the minors?

West leads top diamonds and you ruff the second round low in dummy. As you intend to set up dummy's hearts, your next move is to cash the \heartsuit A on which West plays the Jack. What next?

It looks so easy, double dummy, but it's a nasty guess at this point, especially as you are in Five Spades. Maybe, the best line now is to cross to dummy's $\mathbf{\Phi}\mathbf{Q}$. If West shows out, he is a favourite to have started with $\heartsuit KJ$ bare and this seems your only hope as well, now. You would have been better off if you had been in slam, as your best line for 12 tricks seems to be felling the doubleton $\heartsuit K$.. However, it's all mere speculation, I feel.

At our table, Tonje Brogeland tried to cater for very bad breaks (she was doubled, mind you) so she ruffed a diamond high, crossed in clubs to ruff another diamond high and then played the $\heartsuit Q$, throwing her last diamond when East did not cover. West won and had a trump to return, sealing the fate of the five-level contract as declarer was left with a club loser in the end. One down.

At the other table, NS were much more enterprising:

West	North	East	South
Helness T	Senior	Helness	Penfold
2 ◇	4♠	Pass	5 📥
Pass	5♢	Pass	6♠
All Pass

On the same defence of two top diamonds, declarer went on to cash the $\heartsuit A$, lead a spade to the Queen and ruff a heart with the ten. When the King appeared, it was all over in a flash. Penfold had +1660 and 17 much-needed Imps back.

Both the Wild Griffins and the Adams Family treated us to a good show in their match:

West	North	East	South
Kostadinov	Orlov	Nalbatska	Dikhnova
\bigtriangledown	Dbl		Dbl
2 📥	2♡	3 🙅	Pass
4♣	40	5 🛳	Dbl
All Pass

Strong Club, a two-way two-suited overcall and finally a good fit found. South did her best to show her real spades but North was not impressed. A good save by EW anyway, with $4 \ge$ cold and $6 \ge$ on. One down, +200 to the Griffins.

West	North	East	South
Khven	Ignatov	Gulevich	Mineva
2 📤	Dbl	3 🙅	3♠
5 🙅	5♠	All pass

Strong Club here too, followed by a two-suited overcall establishing the fit. North's double showed less than 8 hcp but his distribution was such that he went on after $5 \stackrel{\bullet}{\Rightarrow}$.

As the play went, declarer should have made her contract after ruffing out the $\heartsuit K$ but she then had a blind spot somewhere, ending up with only10 tricks...another +100 to the Griffins for 7 Imps to them.

West	North	East	South
Gotard	Taczewski	Eggeling	Taczewska
2 ♢	4♠	Pass	5♣
Pass	5◇	Pass	6♠
All Pass

Playing 6 \bigstar , Taczewska followed the recommended line when the \heartsuit J appeared. She crossed to dummy with a trump and ruffed a heart with the ten. Curtains. Couples +1430.

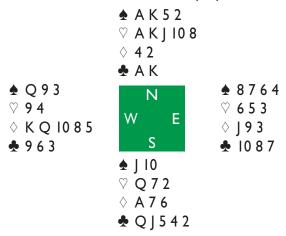

West	North	East	South
Busse	T Gotard	G Busse	B Gotard
2☆	4♠	All Pass

A quiet raise by North saw NS end up in a quiet contract in which declarer played safe for her 10 tricks. She ruffed diamonds high and a club low and that was all she needed. However, scoring just +620 meant that Couples had gained a slam swing: 13 Imps to them.
